Concrete Countertops

“We were able to showcase several meaningful rocks from back home by embedding them in our new island countertop. Everyone wants to touch and feel it. It has become a real conversation piece and a gathering spot. We’re thrilled with how it turned out.”

Discover the versatility of Monart countertops...

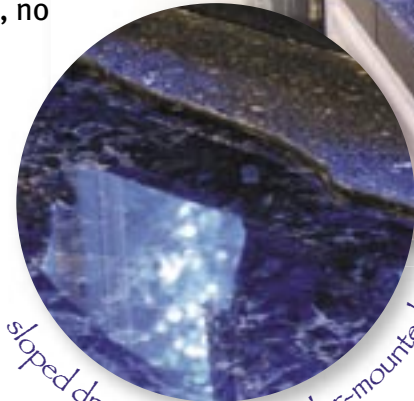

Throughout history, concrete has been the building material of choice because of its beauty, versatility, durability and strength.

Today, more and more people are rediscovering these same qualities using concrete as part of their countertop designs in modern kitchens and baths. With its flexibility to take on virtually any shape and color, as well as its proven ability to integrate well with other materials, no other product can match the design versatility of concrete.

Just as concrete is the medium of choice for high quality and unique design, Monart is the choice for the discriminating customer who wants and expects the best. No one else in the northwest is as experienced or equipped as our craftsmen in the design and fabrication of concrete countertops. We treat each project as a work of art and deliver nothing less to our customers.

A word about color...

Color options with Monart countertops are almost endless. A few samples* are shown to the right, but your choices in color and finish are limited only by your imagination. Ask a Monart expert to review your options so you can choose what's right for you.

As each project is truly one of a kind, exact colors may vary

Beauty in the details...

When it comes to the details, no other material comes close to offering the beauty and flexibility of concrete. From sloped drain boards, embedded stone, wood or metal, to stamped patterns or unique edges, your countertops will be one of a kind. Monart countertops are lasting pieces of art that deliver timeless beauty with practicality.
